Sudarshan Sukhani of s2analytics.com told CNBC-TV18, "Bharti Infratel and Granules India have similar charts, the downtrend is almost like a bear market for both of them. So, it is just a continuation of a trend that already exists. In a choppy market some stocks will go down, these are easy momentum short sells."

"Whirlpool has been on a roll. It has been going up steadily, higher highs higher lows. So, just based on that pattern it should go higher. Yesterday, at higher levels it faced some selling so, if there is a correction or a dip it is worth buying into," he said.

"For V-Guard Industries, I am not so sanguine, I think V-Guard probably is going to face significant hurdles at higher levels and is best avoided."
