We know about the best Employers in the world. Now let's see how companies are faring back home. According to a report by global HR consulting firm Aon Hewitt, 25 Indian companies including IndiGo, Tata Communications and Reliance Asset Management Company (AMC) have made it to the list of best employers in the country.

The Aon Hewitt Best Employers study's research methodology covered 113 companies across 12 industries, cumulatively employing around 9,50,000 individuals, to adjudge India's Best Employer of 2016.

AON's programme felicitates the organisations that have created healthy work environments. These organisations empower results through a high employee engagement, a compelling employer brand, an effective leadership and a high-performance culture.

Reliance AMC is the only asset management company in India to get this recognition. "This recognition is a testimony of our strong belief in promoting entrepreneurship – with a high degree of employee engagement and business performance – within the organization. We are proud to have a team that drives leadership through trust and ownership – with a single focus of providing superior value to our stakeholders," Reliance Capital AMC chief executive officer Sundeep Sikka said

Other companies hailed in the list include AccorHotels India, AGS Health, Bajaj Allianz General Insurance, Bajaj Finance, Becton Dickinson, Bharti Infratel, Blue Dart Express, DHL Express (India) and Hewlett-Packard.
